

New K-12 Outreach Resource - GEO style! Curious George: Explore Earth Science

Now, an educational outreach tool just for you – the geo-professional! Have you wanted to teach small children about earth science?

Now you can, with the help of PBS KIDS. New Curious George: Science Curiosity Center activities help parents, teachers and others who work with children in educational settings and outreach events introduce the concepts of sand, dirt, water, and wind -- all concepts that help form the basis for a strong foundation in engineering and applied science. These activities have been produced in connection with Curious George, the animated television series based on the popular books by Margret and H.A. Rey. The series airs daily on PBS KIDS.

Downloadable banners, signs, activity sheets and take-home handouts are all available for FREE on the CURIOUS GEORGE Web site in the Activities and More section. For more information, contact Leslie Payne, Manager, Pre-College Outreach at (703) 295-6364.

